1 Delta Air Lines finds competition intense in May on-time arrivals race

2 Delta Air Lines , long used to being hailed as the undisputed leader in on-time performance , found itself in a real   horse race in May .

3 Airline performance data behemoth OAG released its May on-time arrival data this morning , and three of the four major domestic carriers found themselves bunched fairly tightly in the on-time arrival competition .

4 Yes , Delta Air Lines   still   won   the month , with 81.1 percent of flights arriving on time .

5 The United States Department of Transportation considers a flight to have arrived on time if it reaches the gate within 14 minutes of its scheduled arrival time .

6 But Chicago-based United Airlines -- clearly pushing hard in the wake of the   ugly   United Express Flight 3411 man-dragged-from-plane incident in April -- finished May with a strong second-place performance .

7 OAG reported that 80.1 percent of United 's flights reached the gate on time .

8 And that figure includes mainline as well as regional flights , which have in recent years had a more spotty performance than have United 's mainline operations .

9 United is a unit of United Continental Holdings.

10 Like all the other domestic carriers that have been eating   Delta 's dust for years in the on-time arrivals race , American Airlines last year upped   its   efforts to improve on-time performance .
